TORAH AND CHARITY

*Zion will be redeemed with justice, and her captives with charity.
(Yishayah 1:27)*

This verse describes two ingredients in the Redemption: justice which refers to Torah study, and charity which encompasses all good deeds. Generally, Torah study strengthens our faith, refines our minds, and inspires our hearts. Good deeds actualize our spirit, bringing real change to our lives and the world.

In exile, our efforts begin with Torah study, which leads to action. However, once we internalize the lessons of the Torah and live our lives accordingly, our actions allow us to experience G-dliness in the world. This is the way it will be in the Time to Come. Our involvement in the world will lead to greater knowledge of G-d than will study, because through this involvement, we will see that G-d dwells within the world.
