LIVING MOSHIACH

REDEMPTION OBSESSION<sup>ב"ה</sup>

*I await Moshiach, expecting his coming every day . . . .
(Maimonides's Thirteen Principles of Faith; Habakkuk 2:3)*

When a person is obsessed with something, he naturally connects this passion to everything else in his life. Of course, though there are many other important aspects of life worthy of his focus, he initially overlooks them and immediately zeroes in on his obsession.

Moshiach will bring the ultimate perfection to our Torah, mitzvos, and everything else in the world. Therefore, it is only logical and natural to be obsessed with Moshiach and the Redemption and to seek their connection to everything that we encounter. This is especially true now, since we stand so close to the Redemption. Every Jew must be obsessed with Moshiach.
